

Huntington Hills Community
Area II TLC
November 10, 2009

What worked?

- web site
- open house
- open communication
- hand out sent home
- I liked it when the different schools sat down and shared their concerns; it helped me understand where other parents are coming from.
- the open house was good
- very informative, nice that the effort to keep parents and staff informed, giving the parents the chance to be heard
- repeated opportunity to meet to discuss issues, process, concerns
- opportunity to meet parents from other schools
- develop a sense of understanding of the concerns voiced by parents of TLC
- web site

What didn't work?

- rumour
- Can other parents be informed of the open house sooner? I guess the shock would come one way or another.

Comments:

- Since many comments & concerns were around the school open concept, it would have been beneficial to have a school layout.
- I felt it was very important in getting a clear understanding out to the community; these meetings were a great way of accomplishing this.
- Thanks to the 'group' who organized the meetings, supported all participants & fed us!
- providing a floor plan of the new location (J.K. Mulloy) would have been beneficial to many parents
